Project Management: An Art of Virtuous Persuasion

There is an irresistible need to bring unity to those around us. More so in our project environments. We face numerous challenges working with diverse project communities and distinguishing between individual, project and corporate objectives.

Join us to learn the Principles of Project Leadership and take away individual action plans to expand your project management horizons.

Presenter: Kevin Wilson

Kevin is a Senior Project Manager with Worley Parsons Canada. He has over 30 years of experience managing projects of different magnitudes. A Registered Engineering Technologist, Kevin has international experience working in Tanzania and Estonia, and he has spent more than five years working in the Canadian Arctic. Kevin is an accomplished speaker and lecturer, relating his vast experience and knowledge about project management techniques and approaches to others.

Host: Bhavin B. Mehta, PMP, VP Professional Development, Project Management Institute - Northern Alberta Chapter (PMI NAC.)

Note: This session is open to the general public. If you are a PMP, you can earn up to 2 PMI PDUs.
